A Technical Correction to the Record per NMRA 1-074(I)

I hereby certify that on January 1 2022 I did identify a technical problem with the record, on page 85 (RP85) which contains the discussion with Laurie via email after our second denial. The email exchange referenced in the record is not directly contained in the record pdf, but is a link to an external web server where the document is present. The link is still accurate and the document accessible, but I transmit the document here as an attachment to ensure its contents are available as the court decides our case. If it is too late to make this technical correction, I do apologize.

Any Update on when can I come get my permits? Or is there something still amiss?

I'm copying Building Official Joe Benney; not sure what he requires in terms of documents. He's back tomorrow so we can all touch base.

Do you want me to bring by an updated version – 2 copies?

Like I mentioned, as long as it's attached to the heated square footage of the house and folks can come in the same door, that's not a problem. I just want to approve what's actually being presented, so if the room descriptions can match what the rooms are, we can all move forward.

Laurie

Whatever gets us our permit. We prefer the areas to be assigned as a bedroom and kitchen if that will not invalidate our submission

Is it your intent now not to pursue the bedroom and kitchen in that area? It's allowed, now that it's part of the heated square footage of the house. Just need clarification, please.

The one that is connected to the heated square footage of the house is the version to be reviewed

Our building official has two drawings, which of them do you wish us to consider? One shows the building to the side of the garage in a different area than the other. On one it is connected to the heated square footage of the house, and on the other it's not.

On both, the rooms in the building to the side of the garage are labeled "shop", "office" and "bathroom". Have you decided not to pursue a kitchen and bedroom in that area after all? Your choice, of course.

Laurie:

I had intended this to be the response to your questions. Perhaps you missed in in your inbox so I am resending and clarifying.

To your questions

#1 The plans to be considered are in Joe's hands, I consider the prior submissions to have been rejected by you

#2 The rooms are labelled on the plans

#3 The permit application calls out 2 bedrooms and there are no bedrooms in the barn or garage

#4 I have included the elevation certificates for the permits that has the AO 2' above grade requirement

Laurie:

I have submitted two alternatives so far, you have rejected both. The drawing I sent you this morning is a 3rd alternative that I have not yet submitted.

Based on your feedback I plan to bring the updated drawings to Joe tomorrow morning.

They clearly call out the 2 bedrooms, etc in the house. There are no other bedrooms on the property and the permit request calls out 2 bedrooms.
